Khatam e Qadria rafee qaadiriyah e salil laahu alaihimdood,. Khateeqaadria Shareef, Khatm e Qadria,. CSCI3013 High School Algebra.Q: Can I use yio-app.js just for a single iframe application? When creating a simple iframe application, using the yio-app.js application can significantly speed up start-up time. Because of that, I wondered whether I could use yio-app.js just for a single iframe application. In that case, the necessary libs (lib.calendar and lib.user) wouldn't have to be included in a index.html file and loaded dynamically but instead loaded from the main server file and referenced in a tag. A: I don't really know what "speed up start-up time" means, but as a simple way to use it, you could take a look at the first example of this multi-app demo from the docs. In that example, the apps are separated in this way: the iframe app uses yio-app.js, while it doesn't use the libs the app just displays the "Share" button If the pages don't need to share any lib, I would say it's a good way to go, instead of dynamically loading the libs via ajax. Q: powershell select-string checking multiple textboxes Im trying to check if a textbox contains multiple strings from a file using powershell select-string. But it only works for the first line of the textbox. Is there a way to check every line of a textbox for a pattern? For example. If the textbox has three lines: line one line two line three Then I would like to check for the presence of the strings "line one", "line two", and "line three". Would be much appreciated! A: There is another way to use Select-String. Just change option enumeration to AllLines. Edit: Important information is added by @runghc: if the list of strings you're searching for is long, use New-StringCollection as the value of -InputObject. For example: $list = 'x', 'y', 'z'
